

Dear Mr. Jeremy Tracey,

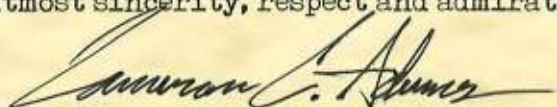

It has been brought to my attention that you are the responsible party in the creation of the product we will hereto discuss. I esteem that it is of the utmost importance that I write you in regards to the opulence and elation I have experienced since acquiring this item, so exquisitely produced, known to the populous as a "crokinole" board - bearing your family's namesake.

But first, afore I divulge my speculation and full judgement upon thy aforesaid product, let me clarify my intentions for this ink-to-paper articulation. Nay, I look for no notoriety nor mention upon thee electronic networks of today, but you may partake if it so pleases you. It is my indignation that your business is not 'known without exception' - in America. Perhaps if the citizenry of our republic divulged greater judgmental notions upon products on parchment for the general masses, such that I do now, we would not be in this predicament. But alas, I digress...

Upon receiving word of shipment, I hastily amassed my vessel and disclosed its contents. I was beholden to an impeccably bulbous and consummately elegant commodity that lay sanguinely in front of me. 'Twas a spectacle to behold with mere mortal eyes. The lustrously polished and exhaustive state of affair the parcel arrived was astounding! Copious self-restraint was vital to resist my appetite and compulsion to disport solely for exhaustive amounts of time. This activity of crokinole is boisterous yet cunning, convivial yet aggressive, and has supplied my acquaintances with a multitude of delighted evenings spent jubilantly lauding and proclaiming superiority while also heatedly conveying their misfortunes and justifications. Never in my years has an activity constituted such amusement! 'Tis unfounded to me why this dexterous enterprise has eluded so many... I have concluded that thou has purposefully withheld word and inadequately represented the exultation this device bears on society.

I hereby proclaim that the Tracey Tour crokinole board is the greatest illustration of craftsmanship and transcendence, and has evolved from the abject flaws of presumably the totality of games heretofore. I henceforth declare crokinole, and relatedly so the Tracey Tour Board, the utmost pragmatic and proper way to consume an evening of delightful indulgence. I favor absolving this letters' recipient, Mr. Jeremy Tracey, of past crimes related to the inordinate secrecy of his craft and put forth a motion to declare his company - Crokinole Game Boards - the superlative manufacturer of disport and the most illustrious producer of the aforementioned product. These statements shall conclude my writings.

With utmost sincerity, respect and admiration -

An exuberant customer of the most prodigious crokinole boards!
